The scary storm

The bell rang at ten o'clock. Many people were absent on that day. The rest of the day went by as usual but the children continued to disappear. When we went out, a storm arrived towards us. We heard a voice which seemed to come from the storm. We were terrified, all the students who were behind us, were disappearing we were only three facing the storm, which engulfed us.

I woke up with a jump, it was all just a dream.
